

Singapore to host communications literacy seminar

SINGAPORE: Hosted by the Media Development Authority of Singapore and the International Institute of Communications (IIC), this communications literacy seminar on 5 October 2012 will look at the way in which information is evaluated in a digital environment.

The seminar will also look at initiatives to promote responsible online behaviour and discuss approaches for measuring communications literacy. This meeting is free of charge, although space is limited, and you can register here.

Join leading international experts in the Pod and share your experiences.

Divided into three sessions, the seminar will cover

- Fact or Fiction: Evaluating Information in a Digital World
- Comparative Models for Encouraging Responsible Behaviour in a Digital World
- Communications Literacy Measurement Framework.

For more information, see the outline programme.

To register for the seminar click here or fill in the attached registration form. For further details please contact Joanne Grimshaw on j.grimshaw@iicom.org.

The seminar immediately precedes the IIC International Regulators Forum, open to statutory communications regulators only, and the IIC Annual Conference where you can debate issues critical to widening digital connectivity, content distribution and consumer engagement with leading practitioners and other experts from Asia and beyond. View the outline agenda.

Early bird discounts available - click here to register now for the International Regulators Forum (statutory communications regulators only) and the IIC Annual Conference.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>