

Botle Kayamba is First Choice's new brand ambassador for its HPR drink

Personal trainer and leader in the fitness industry, Botle Kayamba, has been named as the South African milk and dairy product brand First Choice's new brand ambassador for its High Protein Recovery drink. Kayamba holds a diploma in sports management from the Vaal University of Technology and certificates as a group training instructor, life coach as well as in personal training.

The Sebokeng-born fitness guru hopes to represent the High Protein Recovery drink in a positive way and help spread the word on its importance and long-term benefits.
