

New chief for Open Learning Group

Open Learning Group (OLG) that is a subsidiary of Open Learning Holdings has appointed Rian Breed as chief executive officer (CEO). Breed has been with OLG since March 2014 in the capacity of chief information officer.

His experience and insight into the scoping, design and development of technological solutions required for the education industry will support the continuance of OLG's strategy for a new era of distance learning education solutions offered to the scarce skills sectors.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>