

Contiki Storytellers: Jamie McDell talks plastic in the ocean

Contiki sent a bunch of social media influencers from around the world to Australia on a mission to clean up beaches and share insight about plastic, BPA, pollution, and their experiences in general. Each influencer covered pertinent issues relating to responsible travel and the importance of it on the environment. Contiki created various mini doccies from each influencer, which can be viewed on the links below.

In this episode, singer/songwriter Jamie McDell talks about plastic pollution within the ocean, and the threat this poses to the marine life who call it home.
