Cutting edge tactics

Innovative ideas placed brands out front and helped achieve measurable market share including such cutting-edge tactics as a talking store, snow tweets in the Alps, and tattoo ink created from motorcycle burn-out carbon. Brave New World Communications Pvt. Ltd. India’s shortlisted campaign’s “The Heart of the Highway – The World’s First Talking Store” for client The Roadster Life Co. featured a talking store, with a unique first-person voice, that reached out to shoppers creating the effect of personal interaction delivered by interactive in-store tech including custom software, digital façade, interactive and MultiTaction touch screens, augmented reality green-screen, immersive VR and virtual shopping screens. Results included a 70% revenue spike in high-value apparel categories.

Heimat Werbeagentur GmbH “Snowdrawings” for Swisscom, sponsor of the Swiss ski team, wanted to be more than a logo and create a benefit for ski fans and showcase their extensive network. The telecommunications provider utilised a remote cheering app that allowed fans to send supporting tweets to the ski team and have them written next to the race track in the snowy slopes of the Alps. The tweets were visible for 2 miles and were created using automated snow blower-bots. Results —26 million impressions, 4 million video views and over 20 km of written messages in the snow.

Team One Los Angeles, “Inking Our Mark on Motorcycle Culture” regained market share for Indian Motorcycles by leveraging a brand-first lifestyle media partnership and the world's first tattoo production technique formulated from the burn-out carbon from motocross legend Carey Hart's Indian Motorcycle. The process of making the ink and tattooing Carey were presented in a video along with a six-page custom print advertorial for Inked and offering a limited-edition run of Indian Motorcycle Ink in select biker-focused tattoo parlours nationwide resulted in the ink being sold out in a week. With zero paid traffic to Indian's website, the results include 82% new visitors who spent an average 59% more time and visited 7% more pages than other visitors in the same period reinforcing success in generating qualified conquest leads. Indian went from 7th to 2nd most purchased motorcycle brand in the U.S.

Increased brand affinity

Branded Entertainment repositioned brands and increased brand affinity, shortlisted entries include Zulu Alpha Kilo Canada's campaign Common Ground for their docuseries that followed riders from around the globe on a trip across Canada for Harley-Davidson Canada. Discovery Channel picked up the series as a primetime special, increasing Harley's market share. PHD China's "Panamera O2O Brand Repositioning" for client Porsche re-launched the Panamera through an integrated sponsorship with the immensely popular series Ode to Joy making it better-aligned government and cultural climate and consumer needs and wants. Starcom Saudi Arabia's "ALJ Toyota After Sales" for client ALJ Toyota created an animated web series for YouTube portraying the day-to-day life of a Saudi citizen. The film showcased ALJ after sale and maintenance services resulting in 94% change in brand perception with 49% increase in service appointments.

HBO Multicultural Marketing "The HeLa Project" was launched as a lead up to the premiere of HBO's film, The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks. The multi-day, multi-city, multi-media, travelling art installation consisted of a unique, impactful collective of artisans and thought-leaders from the African-American community. Touring activation resulted in 182 million media impressions. Oprah, the film's star, promoted the film through promotional channels, including her social media accounts, a promotional press tour that included an Essence cover and hosting a junket for black female journalists (#blackgirlmagic), and show appearances. Over 6,500 guests attended, 77% of guests were more likely to watch The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks.

Campaigns created to raise awareness for causes, or social and civic issues advanced. Shortlisted campaigns include Dentsu Jayme Syfu Philippines guerrilla campaign “Dead Whale” for client Greenpeace. The agency mounted a 73-foot decomposing “Dead Whale” installation on the shores of one of the most polluted cities in the Philippines during the 2017 Asean Summit. When examined closer, the whale was made entirely of plastic wastes collected from the ocean. The results—over 100 million impressions internationally and it caught the attention of Asean leaders, which put Coastal and Marine Protection in the proposal for the next summit. Heimat Werbeagentur GmbH Germany’s shortlisted campaign “A New Way of Thinking” for Free Democrats created a game-changing election campaign to reach and activate young voters and bridging the gap between the Liberal party and the voters. The digital campaign resulted in a comeback for the Liberal party.

Connecting with target audiences

Entries utilising sponsorships raised awareness for brands and connected them with target audiences. Shortlisted entries include QIYI China’s “Rising! Chinese hip-hop” for client McDonald’s China connected McDonald’s with millennials via food and music creating The Rap of China, the first internet-based hip-hop contest.
