Located at Canal Walk Shopping Centre, the new Under Armour Brand House features 218sqm of retail space and was designed to deliver an immersive brand experience with displays designed to inform and inspire customers.

Under Armour Brand House offers customers advice and solutions that are tailored to their unique training, running or sporting needs, including technical footwear, compression, apparel and accessories.

Democratically inclined, the Canal Walk store is the first store in South Africa to feature Under Armour's curvy mannequin range and a bra bar for women.

Speaking at the chain-cutting ceremony on 26 June, Gareth Kemp, MD of Apollo Brands, said, “We are thrilled to have opened our third Brand House in the Mother City and officially our 16th store nationwide, offering shoppers an unparalleled shopping experience.

"The global pandemic continues to affect so many sectors and therefore we are extremely proud that we are able to make such a bold move considering the current economic climate. It is testament to the focused direction and innovation that is driving the brand both locally and on a global stage.”
