The GFC kickstarted the festivities by supporting the #FunklTImWalking night walk which took place in Soweto on 2 June to promote the safety of women in our country. The walk began at the historical Vilakazi Street and featured a visit to various heritage sites such as the Hector Pieterson Memorial and the Hastings Ndlovu site narrated by Seth Mazibuko, the youngest member of the South African Students' Organisation that planned and led the Soweto uprising.

The night concluded with a dinner and live performance by singer and songwriter, Nomsa Mazwai at The BoxShop Lifestyle-Top Deck.

GFC acting CEO, Keitumetse Lebaka, said, "The youth are, and will always be our future. Through this night walk, we aim to highlight the importance of a bustling nightlife for the township economy and get the youth engaged with activities that support their growth. The GFC is incredibly happy to be a partner for this event as we continue to build the lives of future pioneers throughout Gauteng."

The youth are the biggest drivers of the film industry - which is GFC's key mandate. The GFC also knows that safety is the key requisite for the film industry, in particular for women and youth.

Beyond the walk, the GFC will also be engaging in other activities throughout Youth Month, namely:
