

Getting groovy at Station 70

By Simoane Lawrence

5 Aug 2010

It will start at the tapping of your feet and progress into you wanting to get up and dance to the greatest hits of all times. The 1970's musical tribute show, Station 70 at Grand West's Roxy Revue will definitely be enjoyed by all ages.

For those of you that are from the 70's, I'm sure this show will make you want to get out your bell-bottoms and platform shoes collecting dust at the bottom of your closet and get down to your favourite jams.

Best school is old school

Directed by Mike McCullagh, you can expect sounds from Michaels Jackson's 'Don't stop till you get enough' all the way to Abba's 'Dancing Queen'. This show got me grooving to the beats I call old school making me believe that the best school is definitely old school.

So grab your husband, grab your kids, grab whatever you can and check out this awesome show that will be playing from 30 July to 18 September 2010.

I guarantee you will not be disappointed.

"Feel the funk!"

For tickets, go to www.computicket.com.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Simoane Lawrence works in the Accounts Department at Bizcommunity.com. She is also a contributor to the [\[\[www.bizcommunity.com/lounge BizLounge\]\]](http://www.bizcommunity.com/lounge/BizLounge). Contact Simoane at [\[\[simoane@bizcommunity.com\]\]](mailto:simoane@bizcommunity.com).