

Mango Groove to play at Splashy Fen

Splashy Fen is to feature a star-studded line-up of local music acts, spiced up by special international guest artists. While the international headline act for the main stage is being negotiated, the event organiser has confirmed that Mango Groove will be making their Splashy Fen debut.

MangoGroove

"We're really excited about our line-up and know that fans will be pleased with the quality of acts who will be performing. There is such a great selection that there will certainly be something for everyone," said Stu Berry, Impi Concept Events Business Manager.

Other acts include Goodluck, Dan Patlansky, The Kickstands, Grassy Spark and Chico Muyo, plus many more, which will be announced in the forthcoming weeks on both the new website and Splashy Fen Facebook page.

Splashy Fen 2016 will remain focussed on partnering KZN and SA artists at every opportunity, with no fewer than 85 local South African musicians performing. 2016 will boast a variety of stages that include most music genres, as well as an open mike acoustic platform for budding musicians, poets and comedians who want to share their talent with the crowds, plus an all new Sunday jazz session.

Tickets

Splashy Fen's new look website has been launched, allowing fans an opportunity to take advantage of the early-bird ticket special on offer. Tickets will start at R590 to the first 1000 'Early-birds', R750 for General Admission Phase 1 for the next 1500 people and R795 for General Admission Phase 2.

Splashy Fen 2016 will take place over the traditional Easter weekend, from 24 to 27 March. Tickets are available at www.splashyfen.co.za

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>