Commenting on the success of the brand's 95% occupancy in its first year of trading in Johannesburg, hotel developers Paul Kelley and Johan Franck said: "The success of the brand is attributed to many things, but one main contributing factor is the location of an appealing five-star address, offered to customers at an affordable rate. As such, we expect our Cape Town property to exceed the accomplishments achieved by Signature Lux Sandton."

The R120m hotel development will also be 300m from the Cape Town International Convention Centre, making it convenient and central for those visiting the city for business or leisure.
