

#Loeries2020 - Day two winners

Instagram's 10th birthday celebration and Facebook's talk "Diversity and Inclusion: Real Talk with Moose" were among the main highlights of Tuesday 17th November, together with Howler's "Data Inspires Creativity" talk at Loeries Creative Week 2020. Other sessions included thought-provoking topics and confronted important issues of misrepresentation, transformation, diversity, and gender disparity impacting the brand communication industry. The Loeries awarded winners in the Digital Communication category as well as Media Innovation and the Brand South Africa Young Creative Award on the second day. Here's a gallery of all the winners from day two...

Pushing myself into opportunity to grow is (emotion and myself) that I am able to compete with the industry leaders. By pushing myself into the content area I started learning from 2 years ago. Pushing myself to become a leading actor. With the combination of Grade and more I am able to come up with stunning visuals. There is only one other Actor in South Africa able to both online and Grade at a industry professional level.

I have worked with top directors in the South African Film industry such as, Peter Dinklage, John Mili, Alan and many more. The other industry level captions are those that 10 years ago and all started on actual film, which I feel I missed out on. This also gives me a more refreshed and technical background.

I've worked on adverts for companies such as Momentum, Coca-Cola, Ford RPT, some well-known, B&B, Transnet and many more.

Skills that I am acquiring

Momentum - Lockdown 2.0
