Media scholarships for women available in Africa

Aspiring media managers from Angola, Botswana, the DRC, Lesotho, Malawi, Mozambique, Namibia, Swaziland, Zambia and Zimbabwe can apply for a scholarship.

© sebastien decoret via 123RF

The Open Society Initiative for Southern Africa (OSISA) offers scholarships for women to study media management at Rhodes University's Sol Plaatje Institute for Media Leadership (SPI) in 2018.

The scholarship covers full tuition, accommodation and meals, learning materials, a modest monthly subsistence allowance, medical aid and internship costs.

Applicants should have completed an undergraduate degree from a recognised university.

The deadline is November 24. For more information, click here.

Source: International Journalists' Network.

For more, visit: https://www.bizcommunity.com