

Philip Gray named GIBB Capital managing principal

The multi-disciplinary, black-owned consulting engineering firm, GIBB has appointed Philip Gray as the managing principal for its GIBB Capital division. Gray has 16 years of experience having held various management and specialised positions in banking and financial services industry in both European and Pan-African regions.

Before joining GIBB, Gray worked as a deal originator/investment officer in the international financing division of the Development Bank of Southern Africa.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>