

New Election Signage Design

Do we really need to look at the bad political print campaigns out on our streets?

I suggest before our 'new' democratic country have another election, please will all designers out there unite and create a fresh new look for politics. Lets have a competition or so, and change the country to see things our way. Get creative on this one, Patricia might just become the new topic for Manga comics!

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>