

The future of the African market

The AfricaCom 100 Leadership Summit will see a panel of the 100 most influential names in Africa's telecoms, media and ICT industry take part in moderated roundtable discussions on high level strategic topics, covering new revenue streams, innovation, regulation, partnerships and more.

Discover what the AfricaCom 100 panel had to say about issues such as...

- Is there still space for organic subscriber growth for operators and how can this be encouraged?
- What's the best strategy for telecom operators to be more innovative in the face of new competitors?
- What support to local entrepreneurs and innovators need to make Africa a world class start up hub?

- What's the most game changing development in Africa's telecoms, media and ICT market in the year to come?
