

ITNewsAfrica appoints new editor

ITNewsAfrica.com has appointed Samuel Mungadze as its new online editor. Mungadze is a qualified journalist with years of experience in the media industry. His working career has been with The Standard Newspaper (Zimbabwe) SABC Africa (SA) and The African Bulletin (Netherlands).

Mungadze in 2006 was one of the youngest editors in Africa, managing a pool of 50 journalists across the continent for African News Dimension (AND). During his tenure at AND, the organisation won the Technolc Innovation Award at Highway Africa Journalism Awards 2006.

The publisher of ITNewsAfrica, Abby Wakama, said the appointment of Mungadze was coming at a time when his organisation was entering a new exciting phase of growth.

"Itnewsafrika is growing rapidly and the need for a seasoned journalist to take the editorial reigns of the organisation informed our decision to appoint Samuel. It's a great honor to have him onboard and I believe our readers will benefit immensely from his expertise."

ITNewsAfrica.com content is syndicated via various news and Web2.0 services such as Twitter, Facebook Feedburner and Technorati. It is also fully indexed by Google and MSN.