

RDNA reporting from AGRF in Ghana

Highway Africa training manager, Moagisi Letlhaku, and a group of journalists from the Highway Africa Network, will be attending the African Green Revolution Forum (AGRF) taking place in Accra, Ghana from 2-4 September 2010.

The delegation is attending the AGRF under Reporting Development Network Africa (rDNA), one of Highway Africa's projects which seeks to increase in-depth and analytical coverage of African development issues, such as agriculture and financial services, to help foster public debate and inform related policy decisions.

The AGRF is a forum which brings together African heads of state, ministers, farmers, private agribusiness firms, financial institutions, NGOs, civil society and scientists; with aims to help drive investment into key projects to address food security in Africa.

All content published from the conference will be posted on the rDNA website, www.reportingdna.org.
