

Afrinolly launches entertainment app for BlackBerry 10

Afrinolly recently announced the release of its African entertainment app, MTN Afrinolly available for BlackBerry Z10 and Q10 at the BlackBerry 10 official launch in Nigeria - a few weeks after just announcing the Afrinolly app for iOS.

With a reported over 2 million downloads across its various existing versions namely Android, BlackBerry, Nokia Symbian, Nokia S40 Series, Java and Amazon Kindle, Afrinolly is the most downloaded African entertainment app built in Africa.

Winner of the Google Android Developers Challenge 2011 in the entertainment category, Afrinolly allows you to watch trailers of movies produced in the African movie markets, more specifically Nigeria's Nollywood.

Taking advantage of the new BlackBerry Menu, the user interface of the BlackBerry 10 version is rich and different because the BlackBerry 10 OS screen resolution allows for the apps new home screen where movie trailers, celebrity and music videos are celebrated plus news headlines.

The app is compatible for both BlackBerry Z10 and BlackBerry Q10. Afrinolly have seen a progressive growth rate in terms of downloads across Africa and are excited that this BlackBerry 10 version would allow more Africans with taste for the super smartphones to enjoy the app.
