

African Bureau of Conventions offers new turnkey solutions

The African Bureau of Conventions has announced that their new portfolio now includes the Bureau, in partnership with i-Exhibit, being able to offer a full turnkey solution which offers a specialised service, of procurement, supply chain management, infrastructure and total project management packages.

Their core objective is to optimize the supply chain processes, with a strong focus on cost reduction and profitability. Christina Herbst of i-Exhibit will focus on the planning and management of all activities across the supply chain, from sourcing, procurement, transport, to the distribution of goods and services. This is made possible through the coordination and collaboration of our valued partners; be they suppliers, third-party service providers or customers.

In essence, the new core service offered includes:

- Supply chain consulting including cost reduction
- Transportation including cross border
- Warehousing
- Procurement
- Turnkey solutions for events/exhibitions including custom stands and designs.

The African Bureau of Conventions and i-Exhibit combines operational excellence and ongoing innovation create dynamic supply chain solutions that deliver enhanced profitability and efficiency to members and clients.

The directors of the African Bureau of Conventions states that this service offering continues to elevate the company, and achieve its objective of strengthening their African footprint.