

African organisations join TUSK in fundraising effort to protect wildlife

The economic impact on the tourism industry - a key funder of conservation in Africa, has been crippling, leaving Africa's wildlife under threat. In order to help, TUSK launched Ride4Rangers, an initiative to raise funds to support rangers who are the first line of defence to protect endangered species. TUSK has secured a donor that has pledged to match funds raised up to the value of £5m.

The global fundraiser, which will see the travel industry complete a cumulative 30,000km bike ride - or cover the distance through alternative sports - was kicked off in the United Kingdom on 15 August with a Lands End to John O'Groats 15-day cycle challenge.

Funds raised are being managed by TUSK, whose patron is the Duke of Cambridge Prince William, and will be distributed across 60 different projects and conservation areas across East, Southern, Central and West Africa, with the aim supporting over 5,000 rangers and their wider families.

Zimbabwean ambassadors

Africa Albida Tourism (AAT) and Zambesia Conservation Alliance were named Zimbabwean ambassadors, with the former organising a golf event, Hit4Help, on 27 August as part of its contribution to the Ride4Rangers campaign.

AAT chief executive Ross Kennedy said local golf group, the Districts Golf Thursday School, gave up nine of their regular 18 holes to participate in Hit4Help at the driving range where they tried to hit as many golf balls as they could in an hour.

“With the support of Borrowdale Brooke Golf Club and professional Stu Stovold, who provided the driving range and 1000 golf balls – 12 golfers hit close to 500 balls in an hour,” Kennedy said.

“At an average of 160 metres per shot, that was almost 80 kilometres added to the Ride4Rangers target, along with US$650 raised on the day from the golfers’ donations,” he said.

Zimbabwean organisations to benefit from this initiative are the Painted Dog Conservation (Hwange), Malilangwe Reserve, Save Valley Conservancy, Tashinga Initiative (Charara, Mana Pools, Chewore), Phundundu, Makwichi and Nyaodza nature reserves and community areas, and Songa Safari and Community Area.

To donate to the Africa Albida Tourism Ride4Rangers fundraiser, click here.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>