

Virgin moves into credit card territory

Sir Richard Branson's Virgin empire will be going into the credit card market at the beginning next year. The launch will be backed by £7.5m marketing campaign targeting 5 million known Virgin customers. The venture is the result of a partnership with US card giant MBNA.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>