

Prince Albert's The Showroom Theatre announces its lineup

Locals and tourists in the Great Karoo are in for a hodgepodge of great entertainment this year at the Art-Deco Showroom Theatre in Prince Albert as the venue reveals its lineup.

Davey Mac Millan and Baden Hall

Davey Mac Millan and Baden Hall will perform Deja Vu "Rock Through The Ages" at The Showroom on Saturday, 28 January, at 8pm, celebrating all the great hits from the 60s to the 90s. The show has dialogue about the music and artists as well so is entertaining and fulfilling, with Mac on guitar and vocals, and Baden on piano and keys. To get into the right mood, audiences are invited to dress-up for this occasion. Tickets are R100pp.

Ancient Agents

On Friday, 3 February, at 8pm Ancient Agents invite you on a musical journey that bridges cultures, combining grooves from north India and the Middle East with Afro beats and polyrhythms – ancient sounds telling a modern tale - an instrumental interplay between world-class musicians that crosses genres, borders and time signatures. With musical influences from Africa, India and Scandinavia, the quartet combines traditional rhythms and contemporary harmonies to produce a richly textured acoustic world beat. This local-international collaboration brings together four multi-instrumentalists – an innovative lead guitarist, a melody-driven bassist and two intuitive, dexterous percussionists whose instruments range from Arabic to Indian and North African. Each band member brings with him a distinct sound, an impressive performance history and international experience. The collab is Swedish percussionist Fredrik Gille, SA bassist Schalk Joubert, SA guitarist Reza Khota and Irish percussionist Ronan Skillen. Tickets are R100pp.

Arno Carstens

Platinum-selling, award-winning, singer-songwriter Arno Carstens will wow audiences on Saturday, 11 February, at 8pm. Carstens has released 12 albums; five as lead singer of Springbok Nude Girls, one as part of electronica project Bhelltower and six as a solo artist. He's had over 20 top ten singles and won five SAMA Awards including Best Rock Album in 2004 for Another Universe and Best Adult Contemporary Album in 2006 for The Hello Goodbye Boys. In September 2016, Carstens released his debut Afrikaans album, and to honour his roots, called it "Die Aandblom 13". During his 20-year career, Carstens has performed with U2, The Rolling Stones and REM, among many others; headlined every major South African music festival; and performed at some of the most legendary and exclusive international music festivals including Isle of Wight, Glastonbury, V Festival and Hard Rock Calling. Tickets are R180pp.
