"We are excited by this partnership which is now in its second year. Fulfilling an integral part of our CSI initiative, providing students with bursaries is a great way of giving them the opportunity they need to empower themselves for the connected future, irrespective of industry," says Jared Louw, national marketing manager for MSC Business College.

"Education forms the foundation of people's future. By working closely with one of the leading educational institutions in South Africa, the SABC wants to illustrate the importance of education and giving back to the community," says Danie Swart, head of SABC Education.

The college, in operation for 25 years, has 18 campuses throughout South Africa. It offers diploma and certificate courses in human resources, marketing, IT support, business administration, travel and tourism, accounting and bookkeeping, public relations and project management.
