

Roan Ash added to Apple Music's Country Wide campaign

South African singer Roan Ash has been selected to participate in Apple Music's global Country Music campaign Country Wide, which launched on 27 July 2018. The initiative includes The Wild Feathers from the US, Catherine McGrath from Ireland, Tenille Townes from Canada, and Australia's Missy Lancaster.

This Stencil app is disabled for this browser.

Developers:

- ES5 builds are disabled during development to take advantage of 2x faster build times.
- Please see the example below or our config docs if you would like to develop on a browser that does not fully support ES2017 and custom elements.
- Note that as of Stencil v2, ES5 builds and polyfills are disabled during production builds. You can enable these in your stencil.config.ts file.
- When testing browsers it is recommended to always test in production mode, and ES5 builds should always be enabled during production builds.
- This is only an experiment and if it slows down app development then we will revert this and enable ES5 builds during dev.

Enabling ES5 builds during development:

```
npm run dev --es5

In addition to featuring in the Country Wide room, Ash will also be added to the Apple Music Pure Country Radio station and The A-List: Country playlist. The Pretoria-born singer and songwriter was a contestant on the first season of The Voice South Africa; he released his album Whisky To My Soul earlier this year.
