

Colour management solutions for professionals

HP has announced that it will be offering dedicated colour management solutions with its printer and scanning products for photographers, creative and pre-press professionals. Users will now be able to achieve more consistent and accurate colours with the colour management solutions, powered by GretagMacbeth technology. Advanced users can also opt for the HP Spectrophotometer, now being offered as a separate accessory.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>