

Slashing trans fat from Snackworx's snacks

 By ActivRetail

14 Jul 2008

Snackworx, manufacturer of Bakers, Pyotts, Baumanns and Willards snack foods, recently announced that all of its biscuit and chip ranges are now being produced free of trans fatty acids.

This has been made possible through changes in the source of fats used to make the company's products. The fats used are made without the use of the hydrogenation process.

"This is a major step in our commitment to offering consumers better-for-you snacking options without compromising on quality or taste. It reflects the global trend towards changing to ingredients that are healthier for consumers and indicates that we are mindful of consumer's health concerns," says Heather Partner, category director: Snackworx.

The product packaging has also been updated to reflect the new change.

ABOUT ACTIVRETAIL

The strategic partnership between ActivRetail and BizCommunity offers the best news of its kind to the retail industry. In a strategic positioning agreement, ActivRetail and Retail.Bizcommunity have created an association by bringing a joint offering to this sector in terms of news, information, research, services and product news. This creates the best mix of media, business and trade services to stakeholders within this vibrant industry. Please continue to submit news and updates to editor@mcg.co.za. Or visit: ActivRetail

- Pringles has a jingle - 8 Jul 2010
- Nampak scoops international packaging prize - 7 May 2010
- Corner Bakeries for Engen Quick Shops - 5 May 2010
- New Food Lover's Market for Table View - 5 May 2010
- Marula, Rooibos welcome visitors - 30 Apr 2010

View my profile and articles...

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>