

Still time to Change the World

Entries for the 'Vodacom Change the World' programme are still open until midnight Wednesday, 8 December 2010, when the Vodacom Foundation will select 10 people who will be paid to donate their time and expertise for six months to one of 10 South African charitable organisations.

The organisation is calling on medical practitioners, speech therapists, teachers, marketers, social workers, remedial educators, occupational therapists, social development coordinators and do-gooders to submit an online application form.
