

LG makes a play for Siya Kolisi

LG Electronics is proud to announce that it has signed a three-year partnership agreement with Springbok captain Siya Kolisi.

This strategic partnership has stemmed from a mutual philosophy that focuses on changing lives for the better. Both LG Electronics and Kolisi have become synonymous with their social efforts and constant innovation.

“LG has a way of making sure that people can access the best technology to ensure the ultimate peace of mind,” said the Springbok captain. “Their ability to use this technology to not only better lives but also gives people more time to focus on what’s important is something that I am proud to be a part of,” he added.

“Siya’s dedication to giving back to communities, continuously reinventing himself to be the best is truly inspirational and something that aligns with the core of our brand. We hope that this partnership allows us to reach more South Africans and assist them in leading better and healthier lives through technology,” said LG South Africa president Deuk Soo Ahn.

Siya Kolisi

The three-year partnership will start in May this year and will see Kolisi become more involved in LG’s campaigns and various initiatives.

“At LG, we believe in making a positive difference in people’s lives. Making life more meaningful through innovation is the reason for our being,” added Mr Ahn.

How LG's innovations are changing the way we live, work and play

11 Mar 2021

As the world continues to evolve, LG is committed to staying ahead of the curve while ensuring that local communities can keep up with all the changes. And with so many exciting projects in the pipeline, we can’t wait to see how this partnership between the electronics leader and world-class sportsman plays out.