

Table Mountain Cableway introduces a private cable car

The Table Mountain Aerial Cableway Company (TMACC) has introduced a private cable car service. The new offering is suited for people who would like an extra level of social distancing and privacy when hosting their event, special occasion or private group.

“Our commitment has and will always be to ensure memorable moments at the Cableway, which is why we are proud to include this as part of our offering,” says Giselle Esau, executive manager of brand and marketing at TMACC.

The private cable car experience starts the moment you arrive at Africa’s New7Wonder of Nature. Skipping the queues, you will be escorted through to the private cable car that you will use exclusively for your return trip. Once inside, you will get to enjoy a breathtaking ride up the Cableway and an amazing 360° view from the top.
