

Ten Walls and Uz join Sonar Cape Town's line-up

Two more international producers and another local talent, Sir Vincent, have been added to the line-up for Sonar Cape Town. The line-up already includes international artists 2manydjs (DJ set), The Bloody Beetroots, Jon Hopkins and a host of South Africa's best local talent.

With less than two years on the circuit and just three EPs to his name, Ten Walls has already become a force within electronic music circles. 'Gotham', his first, went on to conquer main rooms and festival stages worldwide, and during the summer of 2013 achieved underground anthem status. His follow-up, 'Requiem', continued this momentum by hitting the coveted Beatport number one spot and his Walking With Elephants track has only been snowballing in popularity since its release. The evolving live performance offered by Ten Walls is defined by creativity and intricate production and this year he aims to push boundaries both sonically and visually.

Trap artist UZ was discovered on Soundcloud and has already had massive support from like-minded global producers, Diplo and Flosstradamus. UZ's debut EP was released on the Mad Decent 'Jeffree's' sub-label and has been played hundreds of thousands of times across Soundcloud and other platforms. As a person UZ remains mysterious, but his music is anything but: raw and powerful, but with a laidback tempo, he gives listeners a chance to slow down without losing momentum.

Bridges for Music ambassador

Bolstering an already impressive local bill, Sónar Cape Town welcomes Cape Town-based Vincent Manzini, better known as Sir Vincent, who is a Bridges for Music ambassador. Bridges for Music is a non-profit organisation supporting electronic music development in developing countries, leaving a positive impact in disadvantaged communities.

Since 2006 he has been producing soulful deep house, old school and funky house beats - first at high school parties and then on dance floors across the country. He also played at the Boiler Room in Amsterdam and shared a panel with Luciano and Black Coffee at Amsterdam Dance Event (ADE) in 2013.

These artists will all perform on Tuesday, 16 December at Cape Town's Good Hope Centre.
