

Aren't the new MWeb ads so funny...?

I must say, I had such a good laugh the other night with the new MWeb ad with the traffic cop.

I am glad there are still ads that are so entertaining, even the first one with the little girl was charming.

"Sorry, you lost your ticket?"

People watch TV to be entertained, not to be bored.

Well done MWEB.

The ad is about a guy who can't find parking so he asks a traffic cop to run into the Postoffice and collect the parcel for him. She is unmoved and very stern looking. The guy is great and has fantastic facial expressions. I have seen it on MNet quite a lot.
