The brains behind the awards are the radio personality, Spitch Nzawumbi and TV producer, Portia Gumede. Nzawumbi, a former SABC 1 host, radio host and voice-over artist, is known for his wicked sense of humour, inspirational tweeting, robust personality and love for people. His co-founder, Portia Gumede is a showrunner renowned for her wit, irresistible cheeky charm, and a deep and abiding love for showbiz. Together they are the perfect combo to partner an awards ceremony of this kind.

This year the main event will take place on the 22 November 2018, again as an online event on the official Twitter handle - @BlackTAwards, using the hashtag #BlackTwitterAwards2018. The nominees will be announced on 16 November. The categories for the awards were crowdsourced from Black Twitter and are a reflection of the spicy tone and tenor of the Black Twitter timeline. In the meantime, the organisers are hard at work to ensure that the event brings bring more entertainment, surprises and hilarity.

The major categories include:

- Best Motivational Tweets
- Twitter Thief of the Year
- Spice Queen/King
- Feminist of the year
- The 2018 Queer Award
- Funniest Tweep of the year
