DataSimplified develops Covid-19 Back to Work tool

DataSimplified, the developers of the cloud-based HR Management solution HRSimplified, has developed and launched a cloud-based tool to assist businesses in complying with Covid-19 Back to Work regulations and best practices

In direct response to the move to Level 3 of the South African Lockdown on Monday, 1 June 2020, the compliance tool has been made a standalone solution that can produce reports that can be imported into other business systems. The tool aims to help businesses better manage and report on the controls implemented to reduce the spread of the coronavirus in the workplace.

"We looked at the rules and guidelines related to returning to work and saw a need to collect the vital information from employees as well as visitors" explains Mike Hamilton, MD of HRSimplified "recording temperatures of employees and other information that is vital in the control of Coronavirus, especially if an outbreak occurs, needs to be simplified and reliable" The HRSimplified Covid19 Compliance Tool makes information easy to collect and ensures it is readily available at any time.

The HRSimplified Covid19 Compliance Solution is a standalone cloud-based application for use in any company of any size requiring virtually no training to use and is accessible instantly upon registration. The solution meets all data security and POPI requirements in South Africa and can be accessed from https://www.hrsimplified.co.za/covid_new.html.
