

Stuart van der Veen joins Aerobotics as CPO

Aerobotics has appointed Stuart van der Veen as its new chief platform officer. He will be based in the United States and will manage the company's partnerships in agriculture and adjacent industries around the world.

Van der Veen joins Aerobotics from Nedbank Corporate and Investment Banking (CIB), where he was head of disruption and innovation. At Nedbank, he created new market opportunities in strategic industries, including a financial services partnership with Aerobotics in agriculture.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>