

Airlink reconnects Zambia, SA flights from Lusaka and Ndola

Airlink has reconnected Zambia and South Africa with the resumption of scheduled passenger services between Lusaka and Ndola and Johannesburg. This follows the lifting of travel restrictions that curtailed travel between the neighboring countries while they both worked to contain the spread of the coronavirus.

"Airlink is delighted to have re-established these vital air services that sustain the all-important trade, business, tourism and family ties between two intrinsically connected markets," says Rodger Foster, Airlink CEO.

These services provide travelers with seamless connectivity with Airlink's new services linking Johannesburg with Cape Town and also with Durban.

Connections are also available to Airlink's other South African destinations, such as George, Port Elizabeth, East London, Bloemfontein, Upington, Kimberley, Polokwane, Hoedspruit, Nelspruit, Skukuza, Pietermaritzburg, Mthatha and to key destinations throughout the SADC region.
