

Kgabo Legodi believes access to the internet is the biggest challenge

This Youth Month, together with Pride Factor Academy, young and confident 'thought leaders' share what they think the business community can do better to address the needs of the youth through a series of videos.

Kgabo Legodi, a communication and education enthusiast from Polokwane, Limpopo Province, believes that one of the biggest issues youth face today is the access to the internet.

Kgabo, who runs her own PR company in her community, shares her views in this video.
