The upgrade included a complete internal and external overhaul of the hotel's conference centres, which comprise modernised designs incorporated through new wall décor, lighting, carpeting and the addition of bespoke furniture to its Business Centre and Conference lobby area. Touch-ups and recolouring were incorporated in the reception area, all public areas, guest restrooms and corridors.

Aha Hotels & Lodges CEO, Neil Bald says: "We have realised flexible places for informal meetings are a priority as well, which has resulted in the creation of more breakaway spaces outside the meeting rooms where delegates can continue their discussions. In addition to this, we have enhanced the wireless connectivity with ample bandwidth in all areas, affording delegates and guests seamless and uninterrupted connectivity."

The new lobby space can be utilised for intimate cocktail receptions and informal business meetings.

The conference rooms offer flexibility by maximising venue space through opening the various partition doors, accommodating a maximum of 400 guests in cinema style seating, 270 delegates in school room seating and up to 260 guests in banquet style.
