

TNT Express in OMAN launches 'Mobile Worker'

MUSCAT, OMAN: TNT Express in Oman, one of the world leading express service provider companies, has unveiled its state of the art Mobile Worker communication units in Oman which enables drivers to send and receive delivery information in real-time through hand-held scanners throughout Muscat city.

The Mobile Worker units offer high speed wireless communication of large quantities of data between depots and drivers.

Mobile Worker consolidates several communication systems, into one unified and multi-functional solution and enables customers across the world to track their shipments in less than five minutes of pick up or delivery. This is particularly useful for customers operating in time critical businesses.

Sivdasan Payangool, Country Manager for TNT Express in Oman stated: "TNT Express in Oman constantly keeps its promise towards the customer satisfaction by continuously adding value and upgrading services that will significantly improve the speed and efficiency of our daily pickup and delivery operations."

James Edgeworth, TNT Express Middle East Sales and Marketing Director commented: "We are committed to the ongoing enhancement of our service offering by implementing the latest technology .The introduction of Mobile Worker units in our vehicles in OMAN; will significantly improve the speed and efficiency of our delivery operations."