

San Francisco to get WPP co-location campus

WPP is set to open a co-location campus - which will house over 1,000 people from its companies - in San Francisco. WPP will lease a recently redeveloped building located in the south of Market area (SOMA)/finance and technology district.

It will feature co-working areas that encourage closer collaboration and inspire greater creativity. The move will be completed in the third quarter of 2021.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>