

Talk2Us expands into Africa

South African brand engagement and internal communication company Talk2Us has announced that it is now acquiring business in other African countries. Founder and CEO Linda Hamman says: "We are delighted to add the Botswana-based company, National Development Bank, to our client list. It is great to be working for a forward-thinking organisation that recognises the importance of communication as a strategic tool that supports business objectives and helps achieve a competitive edge."

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>